

Welcome to High-Dosage Tutoring

from Tutor.com and The Princeton Review!

Your student has been invited to participate in High-Dosage Tutoring provided by The Princeton Review® and Tutor.com. As a participant, your student will:

- ✓ Have tutoring sessions about 3 times a week.
- ✓ Receive instruction that will support your student's learning, aligned to state standards.
- ✓ Be in a small group (2-4 students in each group).
- ✓ Have the same dedicated tutor for every session.
- ✓ Be able to demonstrate what they learn and get encouragement.
- ✓ Receive regular feedback and engage in assessment-based learning.

How can you help?

1. Encourage consistent attendance. Help to ensure your student is at school on tutoring days. Consistent attendance is key to your student's success.
2. Engage in their learning process. Show interest in your student's progress by asking them about their tutoring sessions. Here are some questions you can ask:
 - Did you understand everything your tutor explained?
 - Can you show me an example of what you worked on?
 - What was the easiest part of the session?
 - Was anything difficult or confusing?
 - How did your tutor help you with the tough parts?
 - How confident do you feel about the material now?
3. Continue the learning at home. Alongside high-dosage tutoring at school, your child has access to on-demand homework help in 250+ subjects, 24/7.

Where is it?

When is it?